

MEDICAL INTERPRETING SERVICES INFORMATION FORUM

Concerning the recent government funding changes impacting the deaf community's access to Auslan/English interpreted healthcare.

NABS recently announced changes to the provision of medical interpreting services. Deaf Victoria and ASLIA Victoria are jointly hosting a forum designed to inform Deaf people and interpreters about the current situation.

At this forum, facilitated by Natalie Sandon, the National Auslan Booking Service (NABS) will address the Deaf community and interpreters by clarifying recent changes and outline the decisions that have been made. The Department of Social Services and the NDIA have also been invited to address attendees.

This is a free event, and can be accessed via livestream for people all over Australia.

- Monday 18th July
- JML Centre @ Vicdeaf. Level 3/340 Albert St, East Melbourne
- 6.30 – 9.00pm

Auslan/English Interpretation provided

Please register your interest and email your questions and/or concerns to:

info@asliavic.com.au

Remote participants can attend via Livestream here:

www.livestream.com/vicdeaf

Livestream attendees can ask questions on 0407568869 via SMS only

With thanks to Vicdeaf for provision of the venue and live streaming technology